

Money Laundering, Terrorism and Proliferation Financing Risk and Control Module for Leasing and Asset Financing Companies

Leasing and asset financing companies are attractive to organised criminal networks because they provide access to high-value movable assets such as vehicles, machinery and equipment that can be acquired, resold, or transferred to disguise the origin of illicit funds or facilitate the movement of value across borders.

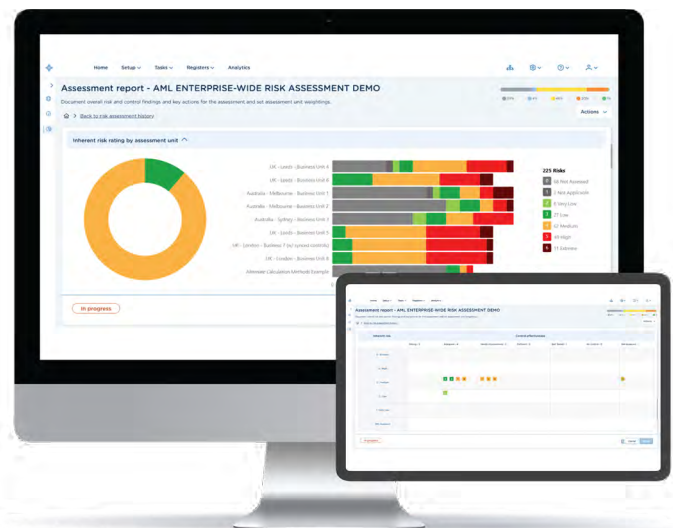

The use of complex ownership structures, third-party guarantors, or early settlement of leases can further obscure the true source of funds and beneficial ownership. To mitigate these risks, it is essential that leasing and asset financing companies maintain a robust, enterprise-wide money laundering, terrorism and proliferation financing risk assessment framework.

By systematically identifying and assessing their exposure to financial crime risks and evaluating the design and operational effectiveness of their mitigating controls in a manner appropriate and proportionate to their size, structure and business model, they can enhance compliance, protect their reputation and ensure the integrity and resilience of their financial operations.
